A SHAM EXPOSED

In regard to the insincere attempt to mix up the school question with the city hall bond proposition, the following statement is self explanatory and conclusive:

THE BOND ELECTION.

Next Tuesday the voters of Glendale will decide whether we shall have a fire extinguishing apparatus and a city hall. There seems to be but little, if any, opposition to the first named item. In regard to the city hall, there is room of course for an honest difference of opinion.

The most common argument we hear made against the latter proposition is that we do not yet need it. We do not agree with this view; on the contrary, we believe that it was needed from the very moment that the city government was organized, and the continuous growth of Glendale assured.

It is beneath the dignity of even a city of the sixth class to have its headquarters in a rented room with real estate offices in the corner. Experience has demonstrated in the history of all our growing towns, that an expenditure of this kind, enhances the value of property out of all proportion to the amount expended—not only in the immediate neighborhood of the improvement made, but everywhere within the radius of the corporation. This is the logical result of the assurance given by progressive action, that the city which is willing to pay for the best, deserves the best. And the cost is so little—only one-third of one per cent on a thousand dollars of assessed value! No owner of real estate in Glendale can plead his inability to stand the expense. It should be borne in mind also, that the number of improvements to be added to the assessment roll the coming year and the large increase in population will materially decrease the expense to considerably below the ratio of one-third of one per cent, which is based on last year's valuation.

The plea that "there are other things we need first," does not seem to us to merit the respect that we must accord the first argument. There are, and always will be, other things that we need; but there is no one thing that the people are demanding with any show of unanimity. An effort is being made to convey the impression that a new school house is required at once. As the district built a very commodious school house less than three years ago, we do not believe there is any necessity for another yet. If such necessity does exist, however it demonstrates the fact that the community is growing so fast that if a city hall is not a necessity now, it will be in a few months. The plea that we are losing money on the per capita allowance made by the state, and should build another school house to enable us to capture this small per capita instead of contributing it to West Glendale, is unique at least! When school houses are needed we shall have them. Something will probably have to be done for our High School soon; but that expenditure will be shared by other districts.

The attempt to log the water question into the debate is as far fetched as the Owens river water. Some day we hope to see Glendale own its water supply; but that is far too large a proposition to be taken into account at the present time. We ought to have lights on our street corners; but it shouldn't be necessary to buy a power company in order to get them.

The question is up to you, fellow citizens. To the realty owner, the expenditure of one-third of one per cent with the reasonable assurance of receiving in return at least ten per cent in the increased valuation of your property. To the man who rents his home and lives by his daily wages, the assurance that there will be that greater demand for his labor, which is invariably found in those communities which are progressive and alive! To the merchant, the advantage of doing an increased business with that class of people who are naturally attracted to that community that has the reputation for doing things, and gives evidence of the fact in its works.

"You can quote me as strongly as you please in favor of the bond proposition. The talk about a city hall not being needed is foolish. Some of the same people who make this objection will spend thousands for their own home, although they certainly do not need an expensive residence, as far as actual necessities are concerned. Why not live in a tent If our people can't afford to spend a few thousand dollars for a city hall, which will accommodate our city offices, and a library, we had better go out of business. Seventeen thousand dollars for a city halll, is a mere bagatelle; it ought to be more."—Elias Ayers.

A resident of Lomita Park says: "While I don't think we really need a city hall at the present time, I also believe it is a proposition that we cannot afford to turn down. It would give Glendale a black eye to do so, and I shall vote for the bonds."

SOME OUTSIDE OPINIONS.

"I think the bonds ought to carry, and if I could vote on them I would surely support them."

The above is the opinion of Mr. J. N. Marsh, a non-resident owner of Glendale property.

"I hear that there is opposition in some quarters to the bond issue; why Glendale simply can't afford to defeat them! It will set the town back because it will prove to outsiders that we are unprogressive. I can't imagine any business man who is intelligenttly alive to his own interests, opposing the issue; it is simply suicidal to do so."

This from R. S. Bassett, the Los Angeles real estate man, who speaks with the wisdom born of wide experience.

CITY TRUSTEES.

At the meeting Wednesday evening all the trustees were present except Mr. Watson.

Routine business occupied most of the evening. A report was received from the city tax collector to the effect that he had, in accordance to law, sold to the City of Glendale, on the 16th ult., the properties on which Glendale city taxes had not been paid.

There were about 150 pieces thus sold, the delinquent tax upon which amounts to $300.00. Property can be redeemed within six months of the date of sale, upon the payment of ten per cent additional charges. The penalty continues to increase until the fifth year, when it amounts to 50 per cent.

The ordinance granting the Salt Lake Company certain privileges on streets and alleys in the neighborhood of First and Second and Glendale avenue, was passed and ordered printed.

An ordinance establishing fire limits and regulating the erection of new buildings within the same, passed to third reading.

There was considerable discussion over a proposition from Constable Catlin of Burbank, to move to Glendale and give the city his protection for $40 a month. No action taken.

The matter of street lighting which had previously been referred to a committee, was brought up by Mr. Watson, who reported that the delay was caused by inability to get figures from the lighting company. Figures had at last been obtained and he thought the matter could be arranged by individuals and firms paying one-half of the expense and the city the other half. Expense, $10 per month per light. It is proposed to have lights at Fourth and Brand, Fourth opposite Sanitarium, Fourth and Glendale avenue and Third and Glendale avenue.

REAL ESTATE

C. E. Stanley & Co. report the sale of lots 13 and 14, block A, Wrightlands tract, for $1900.

East of A street, Mr. Ogg is building a house into which he and his family will move soon, having sold their other place to Mr. Morton.

Mr. Ambrosini's residence on Fifth street, corner of J, is being pushed along rapidly. This is a fine corner site, and the house Mr. Ambrosini is erecting, will be one of the finest improvements on this street.

Mr. Zipprodt has sold the lot on the corner of Fourth and J streets, opposite the Sanitarium, to an Eastern investor, who has sufficient faith in Glendale, to warrant his paying double the price that the property brought a year and a half ago.

On C street, which has taken its place among our best residence sections, the new Garfield Jones house aobve Second street, and the new residence of F. W. McIntyre, south of Third street, are beginning to loom up conspicuously and give promise of the very valuable addition they will make to the fine homes already established on that street.

Sippel and son are building the fine new home for Mr. Ambrosini on J street between Fourth and Fifth. It will be up to date and a credit to the city. It will have beam ceiling in the parlor, and dining room; dining room to have paneled wainscoting, fireplace, hardwood floors, etc. Also a place (a cellar) to heat up and cool off. All rooms heated from furnace.

Fifth street from Brand Boulevard to Verdugo road is rapidly coming to the front as one of our choice residence streets. It already has the largest stretch of sidewalk east of Glendale avenue, and preparations are being made to sidewalk and curb it east of A street. Mr. Harrison, who bought the Rich place just north of Fifth street on K, is making many improvements. Next to Mr. Harrison's place on the south, Mr. Hammond is erecting a story and a half up-to-date residence.

The Erkenbrecher Syndicate report greatly increased activity in the past few weeks in both of their tracts—Glendale Valley View, and the Glendale Garden Home. In the latter the improvements are almost completed, and in the course of a few days the shade trees and geraniums will be planted in the parkways. This will form a unique proposition even for Glendale, which is celebrated for its attractive property. Between four and five thousand large sized geraniums, all of one color, have been purchased, and the space in the park-ways will be planted therewith, interspersed with Ligustrum Japonicum, and Chamerops Excelsa.

They have sold lot 5 to C. F. Parker for $650, lot 6 to J. M. Cathcart, $650, lot 21 to C. E. Lapp, $750, and lots 18 and 19 to W. H. Tonkin for $1825.

All of thetse lots are 50x150, and the street work is included in the purchase price.

In the Glendale Valley View Tract they report the following sales: To C. F. Clark, lot 11, block E, $450; to A. P. Joyner, lot 30, in block B $400; to Wm. H. Sholes lot 7 in block I, $525; to Thos. Bain, lot 33, in block U, $275. (This sale made in co-operation with Cole & Albright); to Mrs. Wm. Love, lot 6, block F, $375; to L. G. Wilhite, lot 11, in block V, and lot 5 in block N, $800; to H. V. and Caroline J. Waters, lot 30, in block M, $400; to Mary E. Jividen, lots 6 and 33, in block G, $771.

These lots are all purchased for investment, and a number of new houses will be started within the next few days.

Editor Glendale News:

Dear Sir:

From the excellent editorial in your last issue respecting "Salome" and Richard Wagner, I infer that that celebrated musician is still composing, whereas I was under the impression he was decomposing, lo these many years!

Is it possible that you have mistaken Richard Wagner for Richard Strauss, the composer of Oscar Wilde's "Salome"?

Very truly,

OLD MUSICIAN.

A Quiet Sunday

The largest mass meeting ever held in the Black Hills of Dakota was at Deadwood last Sunday. And the object of it all was to denounce the courts and the capitalists, and to "demand freedom and vindication" for Moyer and Haywood, soon to be tried for the murder of Gov. Steunenberg. And at the head of it was that choice collection of anarchists known as the Western Federation of Miners.

The probable object was to intimidate the jury that will soon be called upon to determine whether the accused men are guilty or not.

Steunenberg was murdered because he was opposed to the rule of the mob in Idaho, and these western states, where the Federation of Miners has obtained a foothold, are face to face with the problem, whether the mob or the courts shall rule.

That law and order will triumph is a foregone conclusion, but the way may be rough and bloodstained.

A Little Act of Kindness

You who are past the point of being youngsters, and are perhaps a little or a good deal gray or bald or both, remember doubtless Olive Logan, a literary woman with genius who wrote books, and was Washington correspondent for years for some of the first class dailies of the country. You remember also, perhaps, the two remarkable sisters, Tennie C. Claflin and Victoria Woodhull, who were at one time known as the women brokers of Wall street; and the latter, in addition to that, as a lecturer upon Woman's Rights and Free Love. Well, the two sisters turned out better than most people expected; they married wealthy Englishmen, Miss Claflin becoming Lady Cook, and Mrs. Woodhull becoming Lady Something-else; both living as far as the world knows, respectable lives thereafter. But poor Olive Logan dropped out of sight, and we all supposed her dead until here the other day we heard from her. She has been living, it seems, from hand to mouth (on odd newspaper jobs) in a New York tenement for years.

A little while ago some one who knew her in days of prosperity found her out and wrote something about her. The article caught the eye, over in England, of Lady Cook, who had known Miss Logan years ago. She immediately cabled $100 to her, and in a short time crossed the Atlantic, sought out her old friend and is going to take her back to England to her own home for the rest of her days!

They had a reception to old-time friends the other day, in a New York hotel, and the account of it given in the New York Sun of recent date, reads like a romance by Dickens. Olive Logan is old and deaf and uses an ear trumpet; Lady Cook is 69, sprightly and claims to be "young."

In this day of hurry, and worry and money chasing, when the old-fashioned virtues sometimes seem to have been lost in the shuffle, it is refreshing to hear of such an act of old-time kindness.

"So shines a good deed
In a naughty world."

Then!

Referring to a petition to the City Trustees, requesting the calling of a special election for the purpose of voting on a bond issue for road purposes and the erection of a city hall, the GLENDALE NEWS of September 29th last, E. M. McClure, editor and proprietor, said:

The above petition is being circulated among our citizens for signatures and the NEWS is in hearty accord with the spirit of the petition as there is need of a city hall for Glendale and a fund for good roads would do more to build up the town than anything that could possibly be done at this time. A site for a city hall can be secured without cost to the taxpayers and the location seems to be a very good one. The construction of a $10,000 public building will be a great factor in encouraging business men of means to erect business houses and engage in business here. While some may think that the amount which it is desired to raise is a very large sum, still it should be borne in mind that if Glendale is to attain to that importance which its location and many natural advantages entitle it, there must be an expenditure of much money for public improvements. Other communities that have made rapid advancement and attained material importance of a permanent nature have expended many thousands of dollars by means of selling bonds and a bond issue for public improvement in Glendale seems to be the only way to secure what is needed for the near future.

The Board of Education of New York City the other day received in an anonymous letter three dollars in currency, the writer saying that he was not entitled to it; and about the same time, John D. Rockefeller sent in his gift for $32,000,000. John did not mention his conscience, however, nor intimate that the gift was in the nature of restitution.

* * *

Apropos of gifts. With Rockefeller and Carnegie giving to the cause of education sums of money unparalleled and beyond the computation of an ordinary mortal, and with results not at all commensurate to the expenditure, one can scarcely refrain from asking the question: Does it pay? Is there not a limit, beyond which gifts to the cause of education are not worth while? And another question arises naturally in the mind: Are there not other objects as worthy, or more so? To add to the sum of human knowledge is a splendid thing to do; but does human wisdom keep pace with the growth of human knowledge? Why do our philanthropists not give more money for the purpose of alleviating the suffering of mankind? What a splendid thing it would be for John D. Rockefeller to throw a few millions into starving China, for instance!

Would Carnegie not be doing a noble work if he would donate money for the support of free hospitals in the cities where his libraries are erected with his name blazoned on the front?

In the matter of free hospitals, the indifference of our philanthropists to human suffering is a sad commentary on the religion we profess. The United States is far behind England in this matter, and the difference would seem to indicate a calloused public conscience. In London, nearly all the hospitals are free; they are the recipients of money bequests and are contributed to generally by the public. The unfortunates in these institutions are not asked for money, altho they can, of course, give it if they desire. On the outside of these hospitals appears the notice: "Supported by voluntary contributions." The patients are not looked upon as objects of charity; they are more in the position of one claiming that which is his right when needed.

In what contrast does the system practiced in Los Angeles stand out in disgraceful relief! Here the hospitals are paying concerns, yielding large dividends to their stockholders, who are able to enjoy the luxuries of life at the expense of suffering humanity! When suffering humanity is able to pay for it, the dividends may be defensible; but a considerable proportion of the sufferers in our hospitals are pauperized by the extortionate bills they have to pay for service performed during their dire distress.

Let us hear less about "higher education" and a little more about "higher humanity."

G. H. BARAGER — WATSON BLOCK

THE LEGISLATURE.

The ways and means committee of the Assembly has been investigating State Printer Shannon and his printing office. The California state printing office is run under "union" rules, and has the reputation of being one of the most expensive of the state institutions. Mr. Shannon stated that there are at present four linotype machines but he did not say how many hours per day the machines are in use. Two years ago the machines stood idle a good part of the time; it did not suit the union labor gentlemen having charge of the office, to do the work by machinery. Some day perhaps, when San Francisco ceases to dominate California, the state printing office may be run on a business basis.

The union laborites are certainly in the saddle at this legislature. They have put the three-dollar-a-day bill through both houses, compelling (if the governor approves) municipalities to pay $3 per day to the humblest and most useless workman upon their payroll, and now they have succeeded in passing a law, enforcing the eight-hour day on street railways. This bill was opposed by many of the street railway workers who do not enthuse over the possibility of being deprived of the privilege of working over time for extra pay. Savage of San Pedro (our Senator) favored it of course, as he favors every kind of demagoguery that comes before the legislature. Our representative in the Assembly, Dr. Case, opposed it, in company with Thompson, Leeds, Stanton, Transue and Cogswell of Los Angeles. The law will probably be proved unconstitutional, should it ever receive the governor's signature.

We remarked several weeks ago that Charlie Bell was not red-headed for nothing, and here we have him holding up Walter Parker on the street and embarrassing the latter portly gentleman in the presence of some of his friends. Bell is justly indignant at the story to the effect that he tried to trade off his patronage for a place in the Republican caucus. The caucus is to a great extent, the bane of an honest man's attempt to serve the public. He ties himself up to abide by the action of the majority, however many and deep the misgivings he may have as to the righteousness of the majority's judgment and desires. It renders the right-thinking minority incapable of doing independent work. It is of course difficult to get any legislation through without that concerted action which is attained by the majority rule. But there are more important duties to be performed in the legislature than the enactment of new laws; and the sooner this idea can be inculcated in the minds of the people and of their representatives, the sooner it will be possible to work needed reforms in the government of the state. Some time, too, it may possibly dawn upon our representatives at Sacramento that it is hardly the proper thing for them to accept of Mr. Walter Parker's hospitality, at those delightfully informal little dinners which he tenders them biennially. Theoretically, the guests at Mr. Parker's dinners are not bound to do his will; but practically, the fact seems to be apparent enough that they do it! It is at these dinners that matters local to Los Angeles are informally discussed, and when the company adjourns there's nothing left undone but the voting.

By the way, our overworked county officials are getting the salaries of their deputies raised quite handsomely all along the line. We had not heard that there is a dearth of applicants for these positions, nor that it is difficult to fill a vacancy as it occurs; we never have noticed that the heads of the respective offices are compelled to rush into print and patronize the "Help Wanted" advertising columns of the press; and yet 'tis claimed that the increase is necessary in order to get good men! If the many good men in our county offices have been resigning by wholesale lately, or even threatening to do so, we have failed to hear of it.

LA CRESCENTA

Mr. Krag entertained his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Scherb, at dinner one day last week.

After a severe four months illness Mrs. Pleakharp has recovered and resumed her duties as postmistress.

Mr. R. Guderian, whose wagon was wrecked on Los Angeles street by a Pasadena electric car, has just received $200 damages.

A new house is to be built near the site of the old one in the Cunningham canyon. Mr. Siemer has bought that part of the ranch and intends to improve it.

A tract of land adjoining Mrs. Treat's place on the west is being set out to grapes. Every year sees increased acreage in vineyards in La Crescenta.

Work has actually been begun on the Pasadena, La Canada and Los Angeles railroad, and a force of fifty Japs have established their camp on Burr avenue.

Among the guests of the week at Fairmount were Mr. and Mrs. Dunstan, Mrs. Krebs and son George, Miss Workman, Mrs. and Miss Milmore and Mrs. Stivers.

The value and beauty of stones for building purposes is becoming more and more widely recognized and loads of stones are being hauled daily from the valley for such uses.

One of the greatest bargains of the season in real estate is the sale of the ranch just south of the school house. It is reported that Mrs. Blank the purchaser, cabled her offer of $2000 to Mrs. Griffith in England. It was accepted. Mrs. Blank will remodel the house and make some additions before taking possession.

Mrs. Gilson is enthusiastic over Hawaii, and nothing less attractive than her home at Glendale could have lured her back.

Mr. George Byram has returned from Mexico, where he has been for the past two months. He has great faith in the possibilities of that country, but thinks that at present the portion of it that he visited is not attractive to anyone who cares for any of the adjuncts of civilization, which are generally conspicuous by their absence. Mr. Byram has much that is interesting to say in regard to his observations and experiences; much of which we hope to report to our readers in a future number.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. Winthrop Allison, the field secretary of the American Bible League in Southern California, will preach in the Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. next Sabbath. He is an interesting speaker, and will present a very important and interesting theme.

In the evening there will be the usual evangelistic service, the pastor preaching.

During the week there will be services on the evenings of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, of an evangelistic nature. The preaching will be by the Rev. Joseph R. Compton, of the Second Presbyterian church of Los Angeles.

At these meetings there will not be any attempt to separate saints from sinners, but an opportunity will be given to any who wish to accept of Jesus Christ as a Savior.

On Friday evening Miss Antoinette Mooman of Soochau, China, who is on furlough after seven years of service in the missionary work, will address the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society. This address will be of great interest, and all who may are invited to hear it.

The society circus at Venice, opens this (Friday) evening, and as announced in the posters, will doubtless be "the most unique event of the season." There will be three evening and two matinee performances. The Los Angeles Pacific is announced to give "one-minute car service" for an hour and a half preceding every performance.

BENSON-RIEM.

A very delightful occasion was the marriage of Miss Edna C. Riem to Mr. Warren E. Benson of Verdugo, on Wednesday evening, February 20th, at the new home of Mrs. Riem on Third street, east of the junction of Fourth street.

The new house with its light interior finish yielded itself gracefully to the occasion and the decorations.

The parlor was decorated with ivy and smilax. In the corner a bank of callas occupied the lower wall space, a bridal bell of smilax and orange blossoms hung from an arch, the space between was gracefully decked with smilax. The sitting room was gay with yellow accacia bloom and roses.

At the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Hardie of Los Angeles, the bridal couple preceded by Dr. Ward, marched to the archway and were married beneath the bridal bell.

The bride was dressed in blue and adorned with modesty and taste. Besides the immediate relatives who live in Verdugo there were present: H. W. Benson of Huntington Park, Mr. Lowell of Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt, Dr. and Mrs. Hardie, and Frank Read, of Los Angeles, and Mr. Phillippie of Eagle Rock.

Refreshments were served, and a very pleasant social time was enjoyed by the guests. A beautiful display of presents testified to the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Benson.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

Last Sabbath was a good day at our church.

Next Sabbath at 11 o'clock Mrs. Rev. P. H. Bodkin will address the congregation and organize a W. H. M. S.

Our prayer meetings are well attended and deeply spiritual. If you do not attend, why not? Welcome to all our services.

March 3rd, in the morning, will be Communion day; also special reception day. In the evening of March 3 Rev. J. B. Green, D. D., will preach.

Rev. John Pittinger, of Tropico, preached an able sermon in the morning, and the pastor had a good and encouraging hearing in the evening. At the conclusion of the evening service, Mr. Fred Hezmalhalch sang a charming solo.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

We have enjoyed some good things during the past two weeks, and feel that the end is not yet. The preaching of Holley and Evans was a revelation, and has done much to stir us all up. Several have taken the stand for Christ, and others have been helped in their Christian living. The pastor will be in the pulpit Sunday morning and evening, and his subjects will be in keeping with the hour. In the morning, "Soldiers and Their Equipment"; in the evening, "Salvation: the Kind that Saves."

W. F. STONE, Pastor.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES.

James Wells, a member of the Eighth Grade, left on the 20th for a two months trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Exercises appropriate to Washington's Birthday were held in the several rooms on the afternoon of February 21st.

The drill and cantata which was to have been given on the campus was postponed on account of the weather until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

RAILROAD NOTES.

There are all sorts of rumors as to railroads; it's the old formula that fits "You pays your money and takes your choice." There certainly is great activity among the surveying departments of different companies. One gang of surveyors has been at work around Tropico and West Glendale for the past week. They seem to be working up towards Burbank, and the impression seems to be general, that their work indicates an extension of the Pacific electric road from Glendale to Burbank by a route paralleling the San Fernando road. There is a good deal of talk recently about the proposed road from Pasadena to Santa Monica via 6th street, Glendale. This is a most feasible and attractive proposition, and one that would benefit Glendale greatly. The distance between Pasadena and the ocean would be shortened by several miles, and Glendale would be put in close touch with Pasadena, which would be of inestimable advantage. We learn also from a reliable source that a gang of fifty men have begun grade work in La Canada, which on the surface seems to mean that the long-talked-of road through La Canada, down Verdugo Canyon, connecting Los Angeles and Pasadena by a loop route of great scenic attractiveness, is at last to be made more substantial than a dream.

J. A. Ashton has opened his bakery and confectionery store on Central avenue, Tropico, with a full assortment of cakes and confectionery of all kinds, ice cream, etc. All is home-made, Mr. Ashton being a baker, confectioner and cook of several years' experience. His soda water is flavored with the purest extracts. No artificial coloring used. Call and see him and get the kind of bread your mother used to make.

LOMITA PARK.

Twenty-five years ago, when the writer first saw this portion of the San Fernando valley, there was one green orchard down in the center of it that loomed up among the sage brush like a veritable oasis. This was the old "Crow orchard" of seedling orange trees, planted by Henry J. Crow, one of our old pioneers. The property consisted of 200 acres and finally passed into the hands of Oliver J. Bond and H. C. Goodell. The south half was apportioned to Mr. Goodell who, in connection with Crider and Hamilton, subdivided it a little over two years ago, and put it on the market as "Lomita Park." The fine double track of the Pacific Electric Company ran through the center of the tract, and this fact with the additional attractiveness of the double row of great eucalyptus and the orange trees that were on every lot, caused the property to be sold off in a comparatively short time. For a few months afterwards the improvements were but few in number and the buildings of cheap construction, and this, taken in connection with the neglect of the orange trees, caused many observers to doubt whether Lomita Park would ever be a valuable asset to Glendale. Happily this condition was soon outgrown; a great many of the lots had come into the possession of home builders, and the improvement of this tract (which, by the way, lies south of Sixth street, extends almost to Ninth, and is bounded east and west by Glendale and Central avenues respectively), has been very rapid. By actual count today there have been erected in Lomita Park within the last two years, fifty houses, all of them attractive in their home-like architecture and surroundings, and many of them structures that would be an ornament to any city. And the work still goes on; the foundation of the fifty-first was laid yesterday for Mr. Garber. These houses are all occupied, and it is safe to assume an average of five persons to a family, which means an addition of about 250 people to the population of Glendale, in this attractive corner of our city.

TROPICO

Charles Record is building a home on the Wilkinson Tract.

Mr. A. W. Barr has moved into his residence on Laurel avenue.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Faure, February 8th, a daughter; weight 8 pounds.

Rev. C. R. Norton, of Glendale, filled the pulpit of the M. E. Church last Sunday.

Mr. Stine's house on Tenth street east of Glendale avenue, is approaching completion.

Four years ago the Tropico Water Company had installed 80 meters; today there are in use 260.

Mr. Carter, one of the enterprising clerks in J. A. Logan's store, is building a bungalow on his lot on the Wilkinson Tract.

Miss Lura Miller was quite seriously injured in the foot last week in getting off an electric car. She is confined to bed yet as a result.

Mrs. Meyers and Miss Crozier, who live together, have both been quite ill for some days, are receiving many kindnesses from their neighbors.

Mrs. Biddle and her father have returned from a pleasant visit of several days duration to Santa Ana, Orange Ocean Park, Venice and Santa Monica

Mr. Griswold has bought a lot and a half on the Heidt hill and will build a reservoir which will be supplied with water from his well on San Fernando road.

The citizens' mass meeting on Saturday night in the interest of annexation, was poorly attended on account of threatening weather. Tropico is nearly unanimous in favor of annexation.

S. G. Biddle, G. W. Richard, J. T. Kirkham and sons, and Master Dwight Stephenson, attended the men's meeting at Temple Auditorium last Sunday afternoon, and heard Evangelist Trotter.

Miss Snell, president, and Miss Laura Shea, secretary of the Christian Endeavor of the Tropico Presbyterian church, were elected delegates to the County Christian Endeavor convention to meet at Pomona February 21st, 22d and 23d.

Graders are at work on the road leading from Moore avenue up over the hill belonging to Mr. Heidt. The road is to be finished with decomposed granite and will be one of the fine driveways and view points of this vicinity.

Mrs. Northcott, who has been living in Tropico for the past few months, left Sunday for Brookfield, Ill. Her departure was hastened on account of the death of her brother. Her many friends here extend their sympathy in her bereavement.

There was a delightful social gathering at the residence of Mrs. Carmack, on Central avenue, Wednesday evening. The particular occasion was the anniversary of the birthday of Mrs. Carmack's father, Mr. J. W. Morris, whose home is in Indianapolis, but who has been staying with his daughter for some time.

There were nearly fifty guests present, all of whom entered into the spirit of the occasion, with most happy results. There was music and games, among the latter a guessing contest on advertising, in which the first prize was awarded to Mrs. Webster, while Mr. W. H. Bullis, with his usual luck, carried off the consolation prize.

Entertainment at Tropico School

There was a delightful entertainment in Miss Doyle's room at the Tropico school, Thursday afternoon last. This is the primary department and the work done was equally creditable to the teacher and pupils. The idea was a combination of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays with St. Valentine's day, and the program was illustrative of those three subjects.

The room was tastefully and appropriately decorated with flags, valentines and hearts, and pictures of the two national heroes.

"The making of the flag" was represented by Marjorie Imler and two boys, who represented George Washington and Robert Morris.

The "Patriotic School" was an interesting and instructive dialogue in which the teacher was supposed to answer the questions of an enquiring pupil as to the meaning of the stars and stripes. There was a patriotic song by the boys and another by the girls, the audience in each case joining in the chorus. Stories were told of Lincoln illustrating his kindness towards living things, particularly birds. Newton McKown told of the origin of St. Valentine's day. The entertainment closed with two beautiful flag drills, the children singing and saluting as the flag passed by.

KITCHEN HELPS.

When finely chopped nuts are needed for salads or sandwiches run the nuts through the meat chopper.

Plenty of shelves and drawers or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

Select a dozen or so of the smoothest and largest splints from the new broom and lay them away to use in testing cake when it is baking.

Every kitchen outfit should have a measuring glass that is marked to measure teaspoonfuls, tablespoonfuls and gills as well as halves, thirds and quarters.

A heavy chalk mark laid a finger's distance from the sugar box and all around (there must be no space not covered) will surely prevent ants from troubling.

Bind with table oilcloth the pieces of carpet used on the kitchen floor. The oilcloth will wear three times as long as binding. Cut in one and one-half inch strips, stitch on the machine with longest stitch, turn over and stitch again.

French Fried Potatoes.—Cut in any shape preferred; they should be laid in cold water an hour or more, then dried on a towel before cooking. Slice the potatoes in eighths the length of the vegetables and drop them into boiling fat. The pieces will float when done, yet should remain until they are golden brown. Place in a dish and give them a dash of salt and pepper.

Those Eleven Lost Days

The eleven days from September 3 to 13 inclusive are memorable for having once been entirely omitted from the calendar of the Anglo-Saxon world.

The Gregorian calendar was not adopted by the British empire until 1751, long after most other nations of the civilized world had conformed with it. In that year an act of parliament prescribed that the next year, 1752, should begin on January 1 instead of March 25, as had previously been the rule, and that in the following September these eleven days should be dropped from the calendar, the day following September 2 being known as September 14. Stirring times those were, too, in which days were not lightly spared from a year, with Clive conquering India and Washington beginning the conquest of the Ohio valley.

But the procession of the equinoxes took no note of trifles like these, which could be accomplished as well under one calenderial style as another. It may be observed that while Gregory dropped only ten days from 1582, eleven days had to go from 1752, and Russia would have to drop thirteen from 1906 to square her dates with the rest of the world.—New York Tribune.

A line across First street near the west line of Glendale Avenue;

A line across Second Street near the west line of Glendale Avenue;

A line beginning at the northeast corner of Second and G Streets; thence, running southerly across Second Street to a point on the south line of Second Street, distant 8 feet westerly from the easterly line of the alley in block 4; thence, southerly parallel with said easterly line of said alley to the south line of lot 19, of said block 4, located as shown in red on map attached to application for said franchise, marked Exhibit "A," and on file with the City Clerk.

And the right of way and franchise hereby granted over the route hereinbefore described carries with it the right to lay down, construct and maintain said railroad along, across or upon all of the streets and alleys as above provided.

OF INTEREST TO STUDENTS AND OTHERS.

We wish to establish a department in a small way at first, which may be termed "The Students' Corner." In which we shall treat of matters of interest to every one who cares to read or know something of the primary facts of science; such facts as can easily be acquired by the seeker after them. We start out this week with something of interest upon the subject of Astronomy.

An interesting item comes to us from far-away New England.

We quote from Record of Christian Work, published at Northfield, Mass., where are located the various schools and other enterprises originated by that wonderful worker, Dwight L. Moody.

"Among lectures of interest given during the month was one on 'Stars,' illustrated by remarkably fine stereopticon views, by Professor B. R. Baumgardt, president of the Southern California Academy of Science, an authority on this subject. This lecture was made possible by the generosity of Mr. John D. Hooker of California formerly of Hinsdale, N. H., an uncle of a former seminary student. At the close of his lecture on 'Stars,' Professor Baumgardt showed some exquisite views of California.

We know of John D. Hooker as a liberal-minded business man of Los Angeles, who is much interested in the science of Astronomy, and who bore the expense of transferring the great Bruce photographic telescope from Yerkes observatory, Chicago, and installing it on Mt. Wilson.

And Professor Baumgardt is known to all star gazers in and around Los Angeles.

So that we may have access, ourselves, to some of these same privileges, some day.

Concerning Sun Spots.

Repeated dispatches in the daily papers during the last few days, telling of observations upon the sun's disc by astronomers in the Eastern states, show that remarkable changes are going on in the area occupied by the sun spots, so often talked of, but so little understood. Only about once in eleven years does the face of the sun become clear of spots, even for a few weeks, and in contrast to these minimum periods it has maximum periods when the number and size of the spots is great.

Little is known about the matter beyond the fact of this periodic recurrence, and the further fact that the magnetic needle has a period of the same length, its greatest oscillations occurring when there are most sun spots. It has also been long observed that the Aurora Borealis, which, unfortunately, native Californians do not understand very well, is affected by a similar period; and that electric currents traversing the earth's surface in some mysterious way, are apt to disturb electrical machines most in times of abundant sun spots.

Doubtless further information as to the character and effects of the present manifestations will be given out by scientific men, and our readers should be on the watch for it.

The inquiry has been made whether we can consider our earth to be influenced by any of these changes at the time when the changes are witnessed. Great jets of flaming gases sometimes shot up from the sun's body, and large spots now and then appear or disappear very rapidly. One spot disappeared in half an hour, at noon on February 15th.

Light travels at the rate of 185,000 miles per second. Multiplied by 60, this gives 11,100,000 miles per minute. As the sun is somewhat over 91,000,000 miles distant from the earth, it requires only a fraction over eight minutes of time after any of these changes occur until we may witness it.

Electrical or chemical influences may travel faster than light travels. Perhaps some reader can enlighten us on this point.

A very suggestive sentence may be found in the oldest book of the Bible —Job 26: 14, "Lo, these are parts of His ways; but how little a portion is heard of Him."

Annexation Election

In the election on annexation of the country north of Los Angeles, including Tropico, Eagle Rock, Colegrove, etc., Thursday last, the proposition was defeated by a majority of nearly two to one. The city of Los Angeles voted down annexation, the country precincts being largely in its favor. At Tropico the vote was 46 for and 16 against.

MORTENSON-WAYMAN NUPTIALS.

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock an interesting wedding was that of Miss Anna Mortenson, daughter of Mrs. S. Mortenson, and Frank G. Wayman of Pasadena, at the bride's home, Elder E. Owens of San Francisco officiating.

The home was charmingly decoraied with ferns, carnations and peach blossoms, each room being carried out in a different color scheme; the parlor being in white and green; the dining-room was trimmed with crepe paper of a violet shade, while on the table violets mingled with smilax; and violets adorned the dainty place cards. In the music room potted ferns formed an attractive background for the masses of peach blossoms. The bridal party stood beneath an arch from which hung three wedding bells made of white carnations and smilax.

Miss Mattie Mortenson, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and E. E. Wayman, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn rendered by Miss Lydia Mohr. Mr. Owens preceded the bridal party, followed by bride and bridesmaid, and following them the groom and best man.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid wore a dainty gown of white and carried white carnations.

After the ceremony a wedding feast was served, while the bride slipped away and reappeared in her traveling suit of red with hat to match.

Guests were Joseph Wayman, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mortenson, Mr. and Mrs. John Luttge, Dr. and Mrs. E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Mortenson, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hogan, Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Mortenson; Misses June Luttge, Urania Edmunds, Lydia Mohr, Nona Durham, Anna Mortenson, Lizzie Johnson, Lettie Kahl, Jessie Hogan; Messrs. George Luttge, Roy Hogan, Walter Smith, Will Smith, Will Hoist.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayman left for a wedding trip to the Yosemite and will be at home after March 15th at Pasadena.

A SONG OF DOLE.

Oh sing a song of sixpence,
A pocket full of rye;
I will not play in your back yard
And let me tell you why.

I hit you on the ear one day,
I hit you good and hard,
You pummeled me right well, you did
Out there in your back yard.

I once threw mud on your good clothes
As you went marching by;
You turned around as quick as a wink
And hit me in the eye.

I called you awful names one time,
As nasty as could be—
And you went by upon the road
And made a face at me!

You never will do what I wish,
You will not bend your knee,
You won't acknowledge my immense
Su-pe-ri-or-i-ty!

And that is why I say with grief,
When asked by you to play;
I really can't be comfortable
Unless I have my way!
